Loven Contracting partnered with National Bank of Arizona for an interior and exterior restoration of the old Babbit's Building located in Williams, Arizona. The scope of work included an entirely new interior, walls, and finishes as well as major structural upgrades, repairs, and new utilities installations.

Loven Contracting worked closely with the Historical Preservation Review Board of the City of Williams to restore the exterior stucco and paint to its original façade. A challenge of the project involved the condition of the existing bricks being inadequate for the new stucco finish. Lovén Contracting utilized spray concrete tools to produce a smooth and flat stucco finish.

Loven Contracting provided all preconstruction services, design, budgeting and construction under our agreement with National Bank. With review of the original design, we were able to provide value engineering alternatives to preserve the client's budget and complete the work on a tight schedule.
